

HOSTILE SMOOT SELECTS WEBER REPUBLICAN TICKET

We heartily commend the efforts of President Roosevelt and his cabinet to bring about an equitable and fair adjustment of the differences between capital and labor, to the end that the present unfortunate situation in the coal regions may be speedily relieved.

We are opposed to any change or modification of the laws which tend to lessen the liability of railroad companies and other employers of labor for injuries to their employees or for destruction of property caused by fires set out by the engines of such railroad companies.

We urge upon our senator and representatives, if elected, to use all honorable means to secure the passage of a law during the next session of the legislature giving to the cities of the second class the power and authority to condemn any waterworks systems held by private corporations for the use and benefit of said cities and their inhabitants.

We urge upon our representatives in the legislature the absolute necessity of legislation looking to the conservation and conservation of the water supply of this and adjoining counties and the equitable regulation of its distribution to all interests concerned.

Resolved, That we endorse the administration of the county affairs as conducted by the present incumbents, and commend their excellent example of economy, efficiency and general ability to those who shall be honored by this convention with a nomination for the various positions now in the gift of the people.

Mr. Chambers offered an amendment deprecating the use of printed ballots at ward primaries for the election of delegates and regretting that they had been adopted. This amendment was rejected by a vote of 14 to 10.

The chair then named William Driver and John E. Bagley to conduct the permanent chairman of the chair, but Mr. Bagley modestly declined because of not being a delegate. On motion of Mr. Hayes, the convention tendered a temporary proxy for the purpose of allowing him to perform the duty required by the chair. Mr. Hulanicki made a brief address of thanks and a plea for harmony and consideration of the sections and the claims of all classes.

Chaplain J. A. Smith then made an invocation.

The nomination of county treasurer was then taken up and William Driver placed the name of the only candidate, Alma D. Chambers, before the house. The nomination was made by acclamation.

The convention then took a long breath, delegates settled back and got ready for business. The battle of the day was on.

Preliminary Sparring.

When nominations for the office of county clerk were called for a delay of fifteen minutes resulted. Neither would make the opening nomination. Finally, Mr. Wade nominated A. B. Hayes, and Mr. Hayes named Mr. Wade. The chairman called for the other nominations, but still neither side would open, and motions to close the nominations were made which the chair promptly rejected. Finally, Mr. Hayes named the stage and placed in nomination David Matson. The nomination was seconded by F. J. Henderson, I. Clark placed the name of Charles Hollingsworth in nomination, and there was a tie. The chairman called for a lot of the county districts, until finally the Matson men got a move on them and began cross-firing with seconds for their man. At the balloting proceeded the argument that Hollingsworth was making inroads on the other man's strength, and more than making good his claims. The ballot in detail was:

Albert Howell, in behalf of Matson, moved that the nomination be made unanimous.

For county recorder, Dan Ellis received the nomination by acclamation.

William Hestup placed the name of E. Hulanicki before the convention for the position of county attorney and Lowell Woods nominated J. D. Skeen. After the second speeches the ballot was taken, resulting in the nomination of Hulanicki by a vote of 149 to 87. Mr. Hulanicki made a brief speech of thanks after the nomination had been made unanimous on motion of Mr. Wade.

For assessor the nominees were John W. Gibson, by Derrick Folkman, and Edwin Dix, by F. J. Henderson. The ballot resulted: Dix, 143; Gibson, 83. The victory was coming in strong for Dix and overruling the county.

A move to make the nomination unanimous met opposition, there being a few "Noes."

For sheriff, John D. Murphy placed in nomination Joseph W. Bailey, and R. F. Carmon named Charles E. Layne. The result was very close, Bailey receiving 129 votes and Layne 128. The convention then took a recess till 7:30.

The evening session opened with a demand from a majority of the country delegates for recognition in the form of two commissioners and two legislative positions. They had caucused during the recess, but were in no position to enforce their demands, and their resolution got no more than a respectful hearing. The candidates for commissioners were seven in number. Wilson and Stanford were named on the first ballot and Powers on the second with 121 votes.

Bishop Stewart and George Halverson contested with McKay for the senatorial nomination and got respectively 47 and 46 votes to the winner's 123. For the other legislative places, Mrs. Coulter and Dr. Condon were nominated on the first ballot, McFarland on the third and Child on the fifth.

AXTON'S JOKE ON REPUBLICANS

Tells Ministerial Association of Convention Humor.

RAKED OVER THE COALS

HIS ADVOCACY OF MORITZ DEPRECATED.

REV. JOHN T. AXTON says it was a joke, but his brother minister does not see it that way. Mr. Axton declares that it was only his bubbling humor that prompted him to work on the floor of the Republican county convention for Jacob Moritz, brewer and saloonkeeper and owner of the "gin mill" where a tragedy occurred a short time ago on Sunday. This huge joke, however, has brought down the wrath of the ministers, and at the meeting of the Ministerial Alliance at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last Monday Rev. Mr. Axton was roasted to a turn for his alliance with Moritz. Mr. Axton was acting secretary of the meeting at the time, and a highly expurgated account of the proceedings reached the newspapers the next day. Despite the efforts to keep the matter quiet, it leaked out yesterday.

The feeling ran so high that a resolution of censure was considered, but was not adopted. One minister who was absent from the session, said yesterday that had he been present he would certainly have pushed such a resolution. He failed to see the humor of the situation.

The storm came suddenly. After the regular business had been transacted the ministers began to discuss informally the Republican nomination. The placing of Jacob Moritz, owner of more saloons than any other man in town, at the head of the legislative ticket, caused instant comment. Then it was noted that John T. Axton, member of the association, had taken the floor during the convention and voted for Moritz and Williams. The ministers began to yell. They roared Mr. Axton for letting his zeal for the Smoot-Kearns machine carry him into active public work for a "diver owner."

Rev. Clarence T. Brown, who was sponsor for Mr. Axton in his ordination as a minister of the Congregational church, was especially severe in his criticisms. Dr. W. M. Paden, Rev. Josiah McClain, Rev. Richard Wake, the chairman, and others spoke in denunciation of both Moritz and his supporter, Rev. John T. Axton.

Then Mr. Axton sought to explain. "It was only a joke," said he.

There was a lull in the proceedings at the convention, said Mr. Axton. Several nominations had been made and he knew more were to follow. But Moritz and W. N. Williams had been elected to the convention, and he, purely for a joke, moved that the nominations be closed and that the convention proceed to ballot for Moritz and Williams. Mr. Axton made the plea with a man who finds himself in the hole, that the newspaper accounts were inaccurate, and proceeded to enlarge on the broad humor there was in his action.

The ministers then turned to the subject of Moritz himself and had no good word to say of him.

"While I regret very much that such a situation has arisen," said a minister yesterday, "I think it is only justice to the other ministers of the association that it should be shown they do not acquiesce by silence in the attitude of Brother Axton, a member of the association. To say the least, he does not show a sense of the responsibilities of his position as a minister when he supports a saloonkeeper like Moritz simply because of his obligations to Senator Kearns."

Mr. Hills Will Run.

L. S. Hills has accepted the nomination for the legislature on the Democratic ticket, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Colonel A. H. Ellis. Mr. Hills said yesterday there had been a misunderstanding about his position, and that he had not meant to send word he would not run. He told the ministers that he had taken particular exception to Mr. Rydman's statement in his speech: "I have not denied that the cartoons were something. They do mean a great deal to the people who have taken them, and to make people reflect if they have ever committed such foolish acts. They and all who have named them are as I have set forth during the hearing, welcome to take them as intended for them."

In relation to the accusations that Mr. Rydman had stirred up scandal, Mr. Hills said he had not taken any accusers' cry of scandal as new, but dates back as far as eleven years. The word scandal is always used by people who see their wrong acts reflected in the papers. They show the light because their deeds are evil, and therefore, they cry scandal.

"The evidence has shown that there has been a war of the papers, or plot against me by my brethren of the gospel. I have undertaken to advocate a separate Swedish organization in the church, and the purpose of building up the Swedish members in the church and making them more active workers in the church. This has enraged those who, for political and other purposes, wish to maintain the so-called Scandinavianism."

He Blames Fernstrom.

"E. S. Fernstrom claims that the only place where I can do no harm is outside the church. He has, through Scandinavianism, become a city councilman, for the party that nominated him, and he has been a city councilman, representative Scandinavian, and he is loth to give slip of his beloved Scandinavianism. The church is going to help him, and only way he thinks he can be effectively helped is to get me in a safe place, where I can do no harm, as he expressed it. His Christian-like spirit is evident—for its absence."

"My accusers tried to leave me without a defense by trying to exclude my witnesses upon shallow pretenses. A letter was brought in showing that a sister was not standing god for me, but that because her husband had not paid tithing and they had not taken an active part in the ward; therefore, she could not be truthful and her testimony could not be relied upon. And one of my accusers brought it against myself that my new bishop had not intimately or personally acquainted with me. What shallow pretenses. But the accusers have their claim, and tithing, and their wives and their children with them, and they take good care to be at the meetings where they can be seen by their bishops."

Decision of Court.

The bishop's court, in rendering its decision, says:

"Our decision is that the charge against Brother Rydman has been sustained by the evidence, and that he be required to remain so far as he can, the harm that he has done."

"The most effective way of accomplishing this is to do it through the channels by means of which much of

HE APPEALS TO HIGH COUNCIL

Editor Rydman Dissatisfied With Bishop's Verdict.

OWES FERNSTROM APOLOGY

FIGHT BETWEEN SWEDISH MORMONS INTENSIFIED.

THE WAR OF THE SWEDS precipitated by Editor Rydman's writings and cartoons in his paper, the Utah Korrespondent, has now been carried to the high council of the Mormon church for settlement. Whether or not the Swedish editor has violated orders of the priesthood, held up his Swedish brethren to ridicule, and caused a dissension among the Swedes must now be determined by the high council of the church.

The bishop's court, that sat so many weary nights taking evidence in the affair, decided that Mr. Rydman was guilty of the charges preferred against him by E. S. Fernstrom, Mr. Dahlquist and other ministers of the gospel, and that he should be reprimanded. Mr. Rydman asserts that the decision was unfair; that he was the victim of a plot actuated by prejudice, and he has appealed from the decision to the high council for a repeal of the verdict.

Before the bishop's court decided the matter, Mr. Rydman admitted his role in the affair in a speech, in which he scored his accusers and openly charged that at least one of them was actuated by political reasons alone.

Scored His Accusers.

In relation to the cartoons, to which the accusers charged he had taken particular exception, Mr. Rydman said in his speech:

"I have not denied that the cartoons were something. They do mean a great deal to the people who have taken them, and to make people reflect if they have ever committed such foolish acts. They and all who have named them are as I have set forth during the hearing, welcome to take them as intended for them."

"E. S. Fernstrom claims that the only place where I can do no harm is outside the church. "The most effective way of accomplishing this is to do it through the channels by means of which much of the mischief was done—the Korrespondent.

"Brother Rydman is required to publish over his signature, within fourteen days from this date, in the paper above named, the following statement:

"To the Swedish Saints and all whom it may concern:

"I hereby acknowledge that I have for some time conducted myself in a manner unbecoming a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints."

"My offense has consisted of seeking through the Korrespondent to bring about a dissension upon some of the members of the church, and of the president of the priesthood of Salt Lake stake, and have been the means of causing dissension and bitterness among the Swedish members of the church."

"I admit that such conduct on my part was unbrotherly, unchristianlike and injurious to the welfare of individuals and of the church, and regret that I have so done."

"It is also decided that in the meantime Brother Rydman be suspended from the fellowship of the church, and that in the event of his non-compliance with the requirements of this decision his suspension be made permanent."

(Signed.)

"H. B. CLAWSON, Bishop; JAMES M. WARDROP, J. D. LYON, "Counselors."

Mr. Rydman proposes to fight this decision to the bitter end before the high council.

GOES TO HIGHER COURT

War Over the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company Affairs Not Yet Settled.

Denver, Oct. 2.—Judge Caldwell, in the United States circuit court, signed the formal order in the Colorado Fuel & Iron company case this afternoon. The order was drawn under the court's instructions by Joseph F. Valle, C. W. Waterman and W. B. Hornblower, attorneys for the Gates interests. The order was drawn under the court's instructions by Joseph F. Valle, C. W. Waterman and W. B. Hornblower, attorneys for the Gates interests. The order was drawn under the court's instructions by Joseph F. Valle, C. W. Waterman and W. B. Hornblower, attorneys for the Gates interests.

After the order had been signed the attorneys for John C. Osgood, chairman of the board of directors of the fuel and iron company, and his associates, who are alleged to have been committed by Judge Caldwell in his conduct of the case. The most important point raised was that the special session of the circuit court, held on the 21st of September, was convened, and was, therefore, without jurisdiction. On this bill of exceptions the cause will probably be carried to the supreme court of the United States for final adjudication.

Judge Caldwell said the bill of exceptions would not interfere with the election ordered by him to be held on Dec. 10.

FIRST GOVERNOR OF OREGON DEAD, AGED 82

Eugene, Ore., Oct. 2.—Ex-Governor John Whiteaker, aged 82, died tonight at his residence in this city. John Whiteaker was the first governor of the state of Oregon, having been elected in 1859, and re-elected in 1861. He died at his home in Eugene, Ore., where he had resided for many years.

HOLLADA WAS PRESENT.

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 2.—Charles Hollada, co-defendant, admitted at the Gallagher murder trial at this city today that he was with Mrs. Gallagher at the Gallagher home the night of the murder of her husband, but claimed that he had an hour before the crime. The statement of Mrs. Gallagher that she did not see her husband on the night of the murder was positively denied by an eye witness of the meeting. The state rested its case.

BIG MINING DEAL.

Helen, Mont., Oct. 2.—The Great Northern Mining company has announced that it has secured a large mining property in the Helena district. The mine has paid large dividends.

DAILY BULLETIN.

Washington, Oct. 2.—President Roosevelt today received a letter from the governor of the state of New York, and tonight the report from the temporary White House is that his condition is satisfactory. He spends most of the time in his study, and is receiving a great deal of considerable attention to public business.

TRUE ARMOR.

Proper Food Defends Against Disease.

There is an assayer and chemist in Rosita, Colo., Mr. C. Wulsten, who shows by actual everyday demonstration that scientific food will make a man young and healthy.

"The question of proper food which will assimilate and protect the system from loss and waste of brain and muscle, becomes a serious one when man advances to may age of past 50. I am continually under a brain and muscle strain which for the last thirty-five years were upon me seriously. My digestion became impaired and my whole system weak."

"I saw Grape-Nuts in a grocery store, and bought a box. I tested it according to your declaration of its substances in proportion with the phosphates intact."

"I made it my principal food and after a few days I began to feel better in weight and had the pleasure of seeing my indignation leave me entirely. After a year and a half of its use, I feel twenty years younger and am as strong and supple as I ever was before during the last decade. I simply have found the true armor which is defending my body against disease and withering age."

"I find it of advantage in field work and when prospecting in the mountains. When I go out upon geodetic expeditions I take a quantity of Grape-Nuts along with me. This abolishes cumbersome baggage and food cooking utensils. A little sugar, a can of condensed milk, my Grape-Nuts, and I have my food for the day. I never carry more than one or two pounds to carry, and I never get hungry. Concentrated re-agents are the most effective in all chemical operations, and Grape-Nuts are the re-agents that keep the body's laboratory (the stomach) in perfect working order. Your product is perfect."

ANOTHER RUSH AT STATE FAIR

Over 5,000 People Paid Admission at the Gates.

RACES WERE THE ATTRACTION

MORE PRIZES WERE AWARDED TO SUCCESSFUL EXHIBITORS.

THOUSANDS plowed their way through the dust and listened to the hoarse shouts of the fakirs and vendors at the state fair yesterday. From the opening of the gates in the morning till the order that the grounds must be closed last night crowds of people swarmed to the place and waded cheerfully through the great white clouds which rose continuously from the ground. At regular intervals of five minutes and at frequent times between load after load of passengers were carried to the grounds by the street car company. Until between 8,000 and 9,000 people passed through the gates.

The total paid admissions for the day amounted to 5,575, one of the largest attendances in the history of the fair organization. The paid admissions, together with the number of complimentary and employees' tickets, will approximate a total attendance of 8,000 people, according to the statement of the secretary.

Beginning early in the morning, cars began unloading their passengers at the main entrance, and until late last night the rush was continued. Business men and women, newsboys, touts, fakirs, "bookies," and every individual who follows the crowd, took a legitimate interest in the fair, brushed together on the cars. Men who spend the year in the office three cars to the winds yesterday and went for a look at the fair.

Women and Children There.

Women and children who live in the seclusion of home laid aside the routine life for a day and met their neighbors and friends at the fair. The man from the country who rarely visits the city, and the woman who rarely leaves the home, were everywhere. For those who went out in the morning the huge hall where enormous pumpkins and ripened fruit are shown as the pride of the state were a source of interest and wonder and admiration. In the afternoon the races, and thrilling events were, too, drew thousands to the grand stand and to the paddocks. In the evening rows of men, women and children, in many-colored costumes of the bicycle riders, while the band, under a covered tent, drew many to see the vaudeville. And the contest on the track was the most thrilling of the day, between the "Terrible Turk" and Eugene Thompson, a local wrestler, caused a tremendous roar of applause when fifteen minutes elapsed and the local champion had defeated the Oriental gladiator.

Display of Animals.

The morning was devoted largely to the display of prize animals of every domestic kind. Horses in the show ring and cattle in the pens drew many who took an interest in their development, or who were attracted for the novelty of the thing. The biggest of the day, however, was the display in the afternoon to witness the trots and dashes of the thoroughbreds. The grand stand was packed and the fence which holds back the excited throngs of the day was a distance of many yards. Fashionable women occupied seats in the grand stand, and with their field glasses picked the winners in the various events.

The sport with the flaring tie and the striped trousers offered to back his favorite against the field. And the crowd in his side was big business. The young man from the country who had a friend who owned one of the entries backed the animal for all he was worth. The bookmaker, as a consequence, did a big business, and the lad sought the aid of a friend last night.

Events of Today.

Today will be the banner day of the meeting in the way of animal exhibits. Every animal which has won a prize in the past few days will be on hand and will be viewed by thousands from all parts of the state. The management has taken special care to place the animals in the big paddocks today. No trots will be run but instead the madly thrilling dash of the thoroughbred will be substituted.

Promptly at 2:30 the races will begin, and the excitement of the big parade of prize animals will take place. All the animals on which the blue ribbon of superiority has been tied will be shown in the paddocks.

Yesterday morning the stalls and the paddocks were crowded to overflowing with a vast crowd of interested humanity, who visited the sheds to inspect the cattle stock, and the whole forenoon was devoted to that, and animals ranging from the heavy draught horse to the lazy swine were on exhibition. The remaining winners will be announced today, and they will take part in the big parade this afternoon.
